

West Chester University
Department of Computer Science

Dr. Si Chen
Associate Professor
Graduate Coordinator
25 University Ave. Room 131
West Chester, PA 19383
t. (610) 436 2663
e. schen@wcupa.edu

Feb 07, 2023

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing to wholeheartedly recommend Dmitry Efimov for the Business Administration program for the MBA degree at Penn State University. I have had the privilege of working with Dmitry in his professional capacity and I can attest to his exceptional qualities that make him the ideal candidate for this program.

Throughout my interaction with Dmitry, I have been impressed by his sharp business acumen, excellent communication skills and ability to analyze complex business problems. He has a natural talent for identifying opportunities and creating solutions, as demonstrated in his successful implementation of a cost-saving project in his previous organization.

In addition, Dmitry has a strong passion for innovation and entrepreneurship. He demonstrated this when he successfully launched a startup that improved efficiency in the supply chain management of small businesses. This venture not only showcases his entrepreneurial spirit but also his exceptional leadership skills, as he was able to bring together a team of experts to bring his vision to life.

I have no doubt that Dmitry will bring a unique and valuable perspective to the MBA program at Penn State. He has the drive, passion and intelligence to succeed in the program and make a lasting impact in the business world. It is with utmost confidence that I recommend Dmitry for admission to the MBA program.

Sincerely,

Si Chen
West Chester University

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Si Chen", written over a horizontal line.